Students To Stage Viet Blood Drive To Help Soldiers

The Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight blood drive will be for the benefit of American men in Viet-Nam, according to chairman Cadet Captain Robert Parker.

BOTH the Red Cross and the Department of Defense have voiced their approval, said Parker.
The Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has voiced his "deep appreciation" for the "gesture of support" for United States servicemen fighting in the Republic of Viet-Nam.

ALTHOUGH AT the present time our blood supply for Viet-Nam is adequate," Secretary McNamara explained, "the Department of Defense does have requirements for blood which can be processed into anti-hepatitis globulin and albumin
for treating shock."

These two derivatives, unlike whole blood, can be stored for long periods of time and are used to protect and support this country's military force in Viet Nam, he added.

IT WAS NOTED that reserve
supplies of anti-hepatitis globulin have been particularly depleted as a result of the buildup in the Far Eastern country, he remarked.

BYU is one of nearly 60 universities which have pledged to donate blood through the American Red Cross which has been designated to collect blood for the nation's defense.

THE FIRST collection was scheduled in early November on the University of Illinois campus where thousands of students were there during the Christmas holidays.

The BYU drive is scheduled for Dec. 7, 8 and 9. Girls must be 18 to pledge their blood, and men 21,
but age waivers are available through campus ward bishops and at the Wilkinson Center Information Desk.

THESE SLIPS must be signed by the students' parents in order to waive the age requirement.

According to Cadet Capt. Parker, registration tables will be set up on campus beginning Monday.

Students may pledge blood and receive an appointment time there.

Stomp Decision Postponed After Meeting

By Dave Fitzpatrick
Utah Wire Editor

ASBYU Executive Council, meeting in its weekly session Monday evening postponed a decision on the stomp dance issue that currently has the BYU campus agog.

PRESS Secretary Darryl Harris
announced that a statement on the matter, specifically the cancellation of the scheduled stomp band on campus Saturday evening, would be forthcoming.

Harris said the matter would be taken up by J. Eliot Cameron, Dean of Students, and that a decision would be announced Tuesday.

UNTIL THEN, he concluded, no
statement would be made.

The controversy swirling around the presence or absence of "electronically amplified music" began about a month ago when it was announced that stomp bands would be halted on the BYU campus.

AL FLURY, of student opinion arose, and the campus received widespread national publicity. The issue lay dormant for approximately two weeks until recently when it was disclosed that a stomp band
would appear.

The format for the stomp band
was to be the same as in the past—alternating 15 minute periods of fast and slow music.

ally to travel by bus to the New Mexico-BYU game this Saturday.
Dick Ballou, band director,
last week. On the way home band members were asked how y would be willing to sacrifice
 Thanksgiving holiday and go Albuquerque if permission was
ned. "Only two had conflicting dules," said Ballou, and they paying their Ballou, and they

DACH HUSPETH commented on the fine performances of the band, and stressed its value in getting his players "up" for the games. "Just having the band there helped us in Arizona," said Huspeth.

In a statement made to the Daily Universe, he replied, "We really want the band around because we know we need them. We've great help last week when our kids were having a real tough time."

Accompanying the band on the trip will be the BYU cheerleaders, soulleaders and drum twirlers. According to Grand Eklington, assistant band director, the members all feel that these pep students are a necessary part of the band.

THE BAND will spend Friday night in Albuquerque and will return to Provo on Saturday after the game.

This is the first year that the Marching Band has taken more than one out-of-state trip.

Card Drive Aims For One Million

The World Affairs Forum will begin its campus drive for Operation Christmas Card Monday according to Allan Williams, chairman.

THE CARD drive is aimed at gathering one million Christmas Cards to be sent to armed forces
in Viet Nam in time for the Chris-mas holidays.

"We want to emphasize that this effort is not only for students across the nation, but for any person who would like to send Christmas greetings to U. S. soldiers," said Lynn Southam, vice chairman of the operation.

ACCORDING TO Southam, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara
in a telephone call Monday expressed enthusiasm for the project and encouraged college students to participate.

Arrangements will be made through the Utah National Guard
for transporting the cards to Hill
Air Force Base in Ogden, Utah.

It is anticipated that the Defense Dept. will make arrangements for the transfer of the cards to Viet Nam where they will be distributed in time for Christmas, Southam said.

THE BOARD set December 10
as the temporary deadline for these cards to be delivered to their office on the fourth floor of the Wilkinson Center. No delivery of the troops in Viet Nam will be guaranteed after that date.

Darryl Harris, press secretary
for the operation, advised that 10, 000 cards will be printed in the Korean and Viet Namese languages.

STUDENTS native to the Far East countries will be invited to include personal notes to be sent to South Vietnamese and Korean troops in Viet Nam.

What About The Stomp?

For the past nine weeks, the controversy over dance standards and policy has raged continually. Why hasn't the issue been settled?

Many different statements have been made by those in both the Administration and Executive Council who have the power to make policy decisions. The Executive Council has issued a detailed policy outlining acceptable dances and standards. And yet, in the eyes of the student body, there is still no definite stand concerning dance standards at BYU.

Last Saturday night, a dance was scheduled which would have involved an electronic band. Late Friday afternoon, the electronic band was cancelled. The dance had been planned for a week and had been adequately advertised. Many people came to the dance Saturday night expecting to find the electronic band. Instead, they found another example of the indecision surrounding the issue.

The question which we ask is not, Will the stomp be banned at BYU? Rather, we ask the question, When will a definite stand be issued by those who control university policy, which will set forth the standard once and for all?

It is not fair to those who plan or who attend the student body dances to be kept in the dark. Either the stomp should be banned at all BYU dances or it should be allowed to continue according to present Executive Council policy. But, please, let the students have a definite policy one way or the other.

Behind Student Program Ahead Of Area School

by Darryl Harris
BSBYU Press Secretary

BYU delegates attending the Association of College Unions conference at Colorado University in Boulder returned Saturday evening convinced that student programs at BYU are far ahead of those at other area colleges and universities.

DURING CONFERENCE workshops Nov. 19-21, the delegates met with other representatives from 19 region schools to exchange ideas on such topics as "role of the Student Union Building in the community" and "student participation of the Union building."

Lytle Curtis, Wilkinson Center director, said that in almost every instance BYU delegates reported that problems faced by other union administrators did not concern BYU, such as student participation in union activities.

"OTHER delegates found it hard to believe that BYU attracted 8,000 students to its Homecoming dance. They said they were lucky to get 300 students to any activity," he said.

At other campuses the Greek organizations were blamed for the lack of student interests support and enthusiasm, according to Curtis.

BYU's Wilkinson Center has an operating budget of $150,000 plus profit, to top all union budgets. Utah State was next with $11,500. Five keynote speakers from Colorado University spoke on union utilization at conference luncheons and banquets.

Dr. Walter Weir, director of CU's honors program, said "There should be more contact between the part union building officials to find something more meaningful to college students. The split between classrooms and real life is too big." He also encouraged more faculty-student exchanges.

A STUDY dealing with problems common to region schools

came up with three recommendations:

"—An evaluation of University use, new programming and problem areas in planning, then a comparison.

"—A talent file which could be used as a source for initial talent exchanges. BYU would have the largest program.

"—Exchange programs, art, etc. The recommendations were forwarded to Lytle Curtis, representative of AUC. CU analyzed the recommendations perhaps put them into a book. BYU will host the next year's dance largely at Lyn South, vice president of academics, and Garence, program council officer who submitted the recommendations.

Traffic Appellate Procedures Given By Co

Procedures for students low in appealing traffic violations was given by Robert K. of Traffic Court recently.

FOR NON-MOVING the first step is to go to the Administration Building, a book and a $10.00 fee. After posting the bond, the student should go to the Traffic Court, 100 South Administration, and present his ticket. It will then be given to the student along with a receipt.

THE ENVELOPE should then be presented to Wilkinson Center from Monday through Friday. Moving violation appeal also post bond in the Administration Bldg. at the window.

THE NEXT STEP in motion violations is to go to 110 West Center to get a date to go to the Thursday night court 7-9 p.m.

A 7-day limit to make an appeal on all traffic violations. STUDENTS wishing suggestions pertaining to regulations are urged to write to Robert K. at 438 Clark Library. Mr. K. as advocated that those to submit suggestions should request on a piece of paper and hand it to him.

"Verbal requests to traffic court are unintentional," Thomas said.

Letters To The Editor

Free Discussion

Dear Editor:

In the Daily Universe of November 9, there appeared a letter which ended with the question whether free discussion and communication is compatible with the atmosphere and policies of our university. Realizing that this is a prevalent opinion among many students, we of the Issues and Controversies Committee would like to point out that open discussion does have a place on our campus.

WE FEEL that an atmosphere that would foster free discussion and communication should be encouraged and that the student body should forget the idea that free discussion is taboo at the "Y."

We further feel that on this campus we need to analyze and discuss controversial issues and be able to honestly disagree with each other without having our loyalty to the Church questioned. IT WAS FOR this purpose that the Issues and Controversies Committee was formed. Each month we try to highlight a controversial issue through such things as debates of the month, forums, or guest speakers, always giving the student an opportunity to express his views. Thus, free expression does have a place on our campus!

Library Noise

Dear Editor:

May I, through your columns, suggest that there are apparently a large number of frequenters of the library who would do the library users of this university a great favor if they would commit the following lines to memory, and then reflect on them frequently while in the library:

THE LIBRARY IS A PLACE WHERE ONE SHOULD WORK THE MIND, BUT REST THE TONGUE.

IF ANY service organization is looking for a worthwhile project they could certainly do no better than to help some of our overly social brethren and sisters to realize that the library is a place to STUDY, and not a place for catching up on the news, dating, or other socializing.

Please, socializers, for the sake of those who must study in the library (since it is the only place that many reference sources can be used), and for the sake of those who are genuinely interested in using the library for the purpose for which it was intended, LET'S MAKE THE LIBRARY A PLACE OF QUIET STUDY.

IF YOU are not interested in studying at least be fair to those who are. Commence a study and elementary consideration of the rights of others all that are necessary. Surely Mormons don't have to be inconsiderate and impolite. Where's all this brotherly love we hear about?

Sincerely,
R. McCue

Misinterpretation

Dear Editor:

In the recent letter to the editor, "War For Warriors?" the suggestion was made to send the names of supporters of the war in Viet Nam to the draft board as preferential draftees. This is a clear example of misinterpretation of the pro-war support on this campus.

Fine Arts Center Named

Richard Miller: Chef

by Jaron Summers

Feature Editor

Richard Miller wears a sparkling apron which lowers 12 inches a brow. It is the symbol of the kitchen and identifies him as head chef of the Center Cafeteria.

ARD, who says there is no way he would rather be than a chef—something he has done since he started washing dishes within two weeks he was a cook.

FRY COOK he went to the 2nd cook and so cook was not long before a chef—something he has done since he started washing dishes within two weeks he was a cook.

ARD GAVE SOME advice would-be-chef: "You have to do it—that's what makes or breaks a cook."

Richard has proven that he wants to be a chef. He enjoys preparing soup more than most foods and spends hours making it in huge steaming vats. He pauses periodically to sample the soup in the making from a giant ladle.

WHEN THE SOUP tastes just the way he thinks it should he stops frowning and a hint of satisfaction appears on his face.

When it comes to seasoning the head chef advocates: "Food isn't good when highly seasoned but it should be seasoned . . . a certain amount . . . I use spices like . . ."

And he rattled off the names of a dozen spices as fast as a machine gun.

RICHARD, whose favorite meal (for himself) is steak—rare—says that students could save money and eat better if they stayed away from prepared foods. "They aren't very tasty," he pointed out, "try the vegetables that are on sale nearly every day in the stores around town."

The chef, who has cooked for the players of the Hill Cumorah Pageant in New York, admitted to one pet peeve: "I can't stand people that come late to a banquet. It's all right to be fifteen minutes late but two hours? That's just unfair to everyone."

AND THAT briefly is the thumb nail sketch of a chef. He is a man who his fellow employees describe as "easy going and efficient."

FOR THANKSGIVING, Richard Miller will prepare the dinner he describes as the "Meal Which Reflects America."

And after he has prepared that meal, there won't be a person who doesn't think he is a wonderful chef—except maybe 36 turkeys.

King Henry Men Dine Royally With New Cook

by Jim Wilson

Universe Staff Writer

More than 102 students from the King Henry apartments have found a way to dine like kings under the direction of professional cook, Bertrand A. Lee.

LEE, A CONVERT to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (from Trinidad, British West Indies), supervises a staff of five cooks to prepare dinner for 18 apartments in the King Henry area. With the assistance of his business partner, Philip G. Snyder, a senior from Modesto, California, Lee offers a menu that often includes chicken ala king, shishkabob, or pot roast.

EACH STUDENT is charged five dollars a week for the meal service. "Purchasing food for 18 separate apartments, is the toughest part of our work," commented Lee.

IN ORDER to meet the 5:30 deadline, Snyder and Lee have five assistant cooks who begin meal preparations early in the afternoon in the 18 apartments.

Philip Snyder, a senior business management major, explained that the meal program, "saves the students time and provides me with practical business experience."

LEE, WHO was baptized two weeks ago by his partner, Snyder, first learned to cook in Trinidad at his uncle's restaurant.

He has worked as an assistant chef for the Sheraton Hotel in Tampa, Florida.

LEE PLANS to enter BYU in the spring where he will study electrical engineering.

Three Pumas Make Academic Team

The BYU and University of Utah dominate the 1965 Western Athletic Conference Academic Football team, which was announced by commissioner Paul W. Brechler in Phoenix Monday.

THE UTES PLACED four varsity starters on the athletic-academic honor team, followed by Brigham Young, with three players: Wyoming, two, and Arizona State and Arizona, one each.

Utah players selected are Richard Groth, quarterback; Frank Mazzotta, end; John Stipech, tackle; and Tom Sawkes, linebacker-guard. Groth, selected to the team for the third straight year, was named honorary captain. Stipech is a repeater from last year.

BRIGHAM YOUNG honorees are Glenn Shea, center; Virgil Carter, quarterback; and Kent Nance, halfback. Carter was also on the 1964 team.

Wyoming players chosen are end, Bob Dingess, and halfback, Ed Froehlich, both repeaters from last year. Joe Escalada, Arizona guard, and Bobby Johnson, Arizona State tackle, round out the eleven. Escalada also was on the 1964 honor team.

Thirteen other senior-players received honorable mention.

Players chosen annually to academic football teams in all major collegiate conferences automatically are nominated and considered for the all-America academic team. The project is sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

To be eligible for the academic football team, a candidate must be a member of the varsity playing squad and must have maintained at least a "B" average (3.0) in his studies for either the previous semester, previous year, or his entire college career.

Honorable mention: Backs Larry Sampson, New Mexico; Doug Schow, BYU; Lane Walsh, Utah; and Leon Paulus, Utah. Centers: Bob Seal, Arizona, and Ken Bray, BYU; Guards Barry Johnson, Utah, and Moses Kim, BYU; Tackles Monte Jones, BYU, John Parrish, Wyoming; and Brent Olson, BYU; Ends Dave Allphin, BYU; and Ted McClure, BYU.

ATHLETES' FOOTNOTES

Fans Made The Difference

by Gary Wood
Associate Sports Editor

Sports fans who haven't participated in sports may not appreciate the psychological boost loyal, enthusiastic supporters can provide.

BYU athletes privately express constant gratitude for the backing—yocal and otherwise—accorded them by the student body. Comments of the football team following the decisive defeat at Arizona illustrate the point.

Band, Yell Leaders Made A Difference

The gridirers had been accompanied to the Will encounter by the campus pep groups—namely, the yell leaders, song leaders, flag twirlers, the pep committee and the marching band—and after the contest expressed the effect that the mobile rooting section had on the play.

Kent Nance and Dave Allphin were two of the most vocal: "We really noticed the BYU people and we were surprised and thrilled about the number of fans that came down to support us."

"We sure hope we can get that kind of backing in such support," they added.

Such assistance is assured. Approval has already been given for the Band to make the trip, and the pep groups are expected to be there, along with the rooters in the Albuquerque area for Thanksgiving.

The outstanding Cougar Band comprised a feature part in the Arizona-BYU halftime show, and did it usual sterling job.

Sky High For Arizona

The Cougar football squad has shown it can quish just about any team around when it gets to a game. And no one in Tucson will deny that Provo Mountain Cats were "up" for the Wildcats.

So charged up for victory were the Cougar gridirers that it didn't even matter that they were guilty of losing four of their first games—Arizona simply couldn't move the ball against the rugged forward wall of the invaders.

So alert were the Puma defenders that they defeated seven Arizona passes and forced the Wildcats to punt 11 times—both unusually large figures.

Recent improvement by Arizona State and Jose State indicates that BYU probably got one better in their "toughest" schedule—meeting the two universities early in the 1965 season.

Early Games Prove A Lucky Break

The Sun Devils, after dropping their first contests, have come up with shocking upsets over Mexico, Texas Western, Washington State, and Wyoming. SJS, since losing 34-7 in Provo, has been impressive in winning its final six games.

The 20-3 victory over Arizona was the most decisive for the Cougars in the series between the schools, which goes back to 1936. The only BYU over the Wildcats was an 18-14 victory in 1959.

Head Football Coach Tommy Hudspeth is receiving league-wide attention for his success with the Athletic Conference "Coach of the Year" is not out of the question for the personable BYU mentor.

A Cougar victory over the Lobos Saturday at noon—which would give BYU its first football conference title—would carry much weight in the Coach of the Year voting.

Five Turkeys Won At Sho

The annual AMS Turkey was held Saturday with 100 men competing for five giving turkeys.

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles suggesting tips for all bowlers from the beginner to the advanced.)

This 11-part series, carried weekly in the Universe, has been designed so that readers would find each part of the series helpful and easy to follow.

Many bowlers throughout the country ask if it's better to bowl looking at the pins or some spot on the lanes.

I ADVOCATE spot bowling; that is, picking a spot on the lanes

10, 15 or 20 feet past the foul line and rolling your ball over that spot and into the pocket.

When you roll bowling at the pins you are actually spot bowling, but you are aiming at a spot some sixty feet away.

IT IS EASIER to hit a target that's closer. Look at the series of triangles that are located about 15 feet from the foul line and try to roll your ball over the second triangle from the right. You'll find that accuracy and better scores follow.

However, don't expect a strike every time you roll your ball over the second triangle. You must determine the path of your ball as it rolls over this spot and heads for the pocket.

IF YOUR BALL is in the pocket, don't change. If you need to make minor changes in your spot to hit the pocket, this can easily be done. But you will find that in a short period of time you will have become very accurate.

Remember, it takes patience and practice to see results.

Cassius Retains Crown With TKO Over Floyd

VEGAS—Cassius Clay retained his heavyweight championship of the world Monday night in a technical knock-out overaching Floyd Patterson.

Patterson battered Patterson in the 12th round, but Clay's quick punches and, for all intents and purposes, ended the fight in a round.

In the 12th round, Clay felled Patterson for the mandatory eight count and caused an injury to the challenger's back. He also cut Patterson's left eye.

Patterson said after the fight there "is a very strong possibility that I will quit."

At 2:18 of the 12th round, referee Karry Krause stopped the fight because Patterson was reeling from Clay's punches. Five minutes after the fight was over, Patterson was still bending over.

Patterson disclosed that the back injury was a recurrence of one he has had since 1964, which has been kept secret.

Clay apparently refused to talk with reporters after the fight in the "Gold Room"—where victors customarily appear before the press. Eventually a Clay assistant talked with newsmen but did not reveal where the champion was.

Cougar Netters Win 7 Straight

BYU's tennis team has dominated play in the Salt Lake City Thanksgiving Open Tennis Tournament after the first round of matches.

Although the tourney is open to any contestants, Utah and BYU makes up the bulk of the entrants. After the first round, Utah has Jim Osborne and Mike Ross in the third round.

THE MAIN Cougar threats are Larry Collins, a California JC transfer and Bill Grimm. Both won their opening matches, and Grimm won his first two, defeating highly seeded Mike Martinez in one of them.

The results of the BYU matches are as follows:
(on Proctor (BYU) def Harold Sears (U) 6-2, 6-2; Bill Port (BYU) def Utah by default; Bill Grimm (BYU) def Jerry Collins (U) 6-4, 6-4; Bob Green (BYU) def Mike Martinez (U) 6-4, 6-2; Eric Smith (BYU) def Bob Lind (U) 6-4, 6-2; Jerry Ehlers (BYU) def Skip Proctor (U) 6-4, 6-2; Larry Collins (BYU) def Pryle (U) 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Cats Smell Trouble Ahead

The sweet smell of success wafted across the BYU campus this week. But the scent that followed, that of a rabid Wolfpack from New Mexico, cleared football heads in a hurry.

BYU COULD AFFORD to take a moment and survey the results of Saturday's game in Tucson that boosted the Cougars into first place in the WAC race. But the look back had to be short-lived, since the most important game of the season is still ahead.

Not since 1967 have the Cougars found themselves in a position to win a conference championship. That was the year BYU battled Wyoming for the old league title in the final game of the season.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON in Albuquerque the Cougars will have an opportunity to bring the school undisputed claim to the WAC football championship. It would be the first conference championship since the school resumed collegiate football competition in 1922.

However, many a contender has lost the title while still carried up in dreams of grandeur. Head coach Tommy Hudspeth doesn't want any title talk to lull his charges into a state where they become easy prey for the Wolfpack.

THE POSSIBILITIES are all too evident. Saturday's game could bring the Cougars their most successful football season in BYU history. Or it could develop into an anti-climax of sorts.

Right now Hudspeth is ready to preach a little realism to his players. It will take some good, solid hitting and an offense that doesn't sputter to outdistance the Lobos.

In the last meeting between the two schools, New Mexico ruined the Cougars' inaugural game in BYU's new stadium. The Lobos took a 26-14 decision before a record, 33,000 fans in Provo.

General Electric is an easy place to work.

All you need is brains, imagination, drive and a fairly rugged constitution.

Oh, yes. Something else that will help you at G.E. is an understanding of the kind of world we live in, and the kind of world we will live in.

There's a lot happening: The population is continuing to explode. The strain on resources is becoming alarming. At a time when men are being lured by the mysteries of space, we're faced with the task of making life on earth more livable.

There's a lot happening at G.E., too, as our people work in a hundred different areas to help solve the problems of a growing world: Supplying more (and cheaper) electricity with nuclear reactors. Controlling smog in our cities and pollution in our streams. Providing better street lighting and faster transportation.

This is the most important work in the world today: Helping to shape the world of tomorrow. Do you want to help? Come to General Electric, where the young men are important men.
